

199901511

Abstract

Cordless telephone

A cordless telephone with clock function which has a fixed part with mains power supply and a fixed-part time generator or clock generator and a mobile part with internal power supply and a mobile part time generator or clock generator, the mobile part having interrogation means for carrying out a clock time interrogation at the fixed part or conversely after an interruption of the respective internal power supply.

Figure 1

199901511